3127.1000-004

```
If pick a pseudo-random number between 0 and the number of WORDS (16-bit sets)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               // in the current ciphertext block and use it as this WORD pointer.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              // PossibleChoices[FindBit] is the pseudo-random bit-location.
                                                                                                                                                // variable that will contain the index of the current assigned bit.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             AssignedBit=MRK. Value cl (cro_mrk+BitPointer)%160}%AvailableBits; #pick a pseudo-random number between 0 and AvailableBits.
                                                                                                                                                                                 // index variable used for finding the assigned bit's position.
                                                                     // create empty array for keeping track of possible choices.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   // loop through possible locations of the AssignedBit:
                                                                                                           // variable that will maintain a count of available bits.
                                // create empty array for keeping track of bit status.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         // mark bit as used so that it is not re-used.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             // increment the number of available bits.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                            // obtain Master Recovery Key's CRC.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  // add it to the list of possibilities.
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  // if this bit is not already in use,
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      // loop through 16 bit pointers:
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   // if FindBit = AssignedBit,
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 // loop through useable bits:
int KeyGenerator::Locations(BitLocations& OrderedPairs, unsigned int CPB_Size)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 for (AssignedBit=0, AvailableBits=0, AssignedBit<16; AssignedBit++)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          (MRK. Value.c[(crc_mrk+BitPointer)%160]%(CFB_Size/2))*2;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              OrderedPairs.Bit[BitPointer] =PossibleChoices[j];
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   for(FindBit=0, FindBit<(AvailableBits+1); FindBit++)</pre> PossibleChoices[AvailableBits]=AssignedBit;
                                          short BitStatus[16]={0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0,0};
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            for(short BitPointer=0;BitPointer<16;BitPointer++)</pre> BitStatus[OrderedPairs.Bit[BitPointer]]=-1;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            if(BitStatus[AssignedBit]>-1)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               OrderedPairs.Word[BitPointer] =
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            unsigned char crc_mrk=MRK.CRC();
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              if(FindBit==AssignedBit)
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       AvailableBits++;
                                                                                     short PossibleChoices[16];
                                                                                                                                short AvailableBits;
                                                                                                                                                                      short AssignedBit;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                 short FindBit;
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          return 1;
                                                                                                                                                                 Ś
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            10
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   2
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         20
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                25
```

Table 1 Generation of the ECD Code and Insertion Into Ciphertext Block